

who we are
and what we do...

The Permanent Commission on the Status of Women (PCSW) was created in 1973 by an act of the Connecticut State Legislature. Under Sections 46a-1 through 46a-6 of the Connecticut General Statutes, a seventeen-member Commission, the staff and volunteers work to eliminate sex discrimination in Connecticut.

As required by statute, the PCSW studies all matters concerning women; informs the leaders of business, education and government about the nature and scope of sex discrimination; serves as a liaison between government and private interest groups concerned with services for women; promotes consideration of qualified women to all levels of government positions; and works with state agencies to assess programs and practices as they affect women. (C.G.S. 46a-4)

As a method of fulfilling our mandate to promote consideration of qualified women to all levels of government positions, the PCSW maintains a Talent Bank of women who are interested in appointment to state boards, councils, commissions or task forces. As opportunities arise, the PCSW forwards the names of appropriate candidates to the appointing authority. Generally such positions are unpaid. While entry of names in the Talent Bank does not guarantee appointment, it does afford an opportunity for consideration for appointment.
